

Tin Mountain Conservation Center | 1245 Bald Hill Road | Albany | NH | 03818

In an abundance of caution and concern for the health and safety of our Tin Mountain family, we are canceling all Tin Mountain in house nature programs until further notice due to the Coronavirus Covid-19. Please stay informed by checking our website for updates.

This includes our annual First Season Dinner scheduled for Saturday, March 28. Instead of a dinner/auction, we will be hosting an online auction featuring the items that have been donated. The online auction will run from Saturday, March 28, through Sunday, April 5, 2020. More details to follow.

These are unprecedented times. Please be well and take care by following the appropriate protocol such as hand washing, covering your cough, and unfortunately avoiding large gatherings. We are continuing to monitor and follow state and government guidelines and will post updates for any changes to programs, activities, etc. The health of our staff, members, volunteers and program participants remains our top priority.

Spring is always a beautiful time in the Mount Washington Valley. I hope that you will find peace in the return of our native wildflowers, budding trees, and migrating birds.

Be Well!
